

The development of a system of voluntary certification and of a “Made in Africa” collective trademark is a solution that can allow African manufacturers to guarantee the reliability of their companies and products, helping such goods to more easily enter foreign markets, where they must match strict quality and safety requirements to which customers abroad are becoming more and more sensitive.... Read the post on our blog .